Christmas letter

Under the e-twinning program i.e writing letters to a school in Bristol, Children were really excited to send warm wishes to their friends there. They sent warm wishes and hugs and mentioned some of the things they do here on Christmas and New Year.

Not to mention, these letters are a way to communicate better with Native English speakers and also help them improve their Spanish.

Congratulating the Children in Hospital

At the school, we teach students to be loving and caring, to help each other and to stay together. The students along with teacher Inma Cano profesora de Quinto took the initiative to send letters to all the Children fighting Cancer in the Hospital Universitario médico quirúrgico de Jaén, Oncología pediátrica.

These letters are not just to congratulate them Christmas and a New Year but also to make them believe that they can heal and cure. These letters are written to make them know that they are being missed and that we all are here waiting for them.

Children were really invested in the activity and it shows us that good culture is being inculcated in them.

Christmas Worksheets

During the last week just before the vacations, we took the time to teach students different vocabulary related to the Festival season. Children enjoyed learning about the basic vocabulary of Christmas and New Year.

Another cultural activity taught to Children was the Christmas around the world and how the traditions and celebrations changes when we go to different countries.

This can also be seen in the video link here.
